

Beverly Hills magic comes to Saltaire

The search to improve the quality of her own skin led pharmacist and independent prescriber Rukhsana Khan of Bradford to becoming one of the most highly-respected skin care practitioners in the UK.

Rukhsana battled with skin problems throughout her life and spent a lot of time and a great deal of money visiting skin care specialists and clinics – to no avail.

After years of research she came across Dr Zein Obagi of Beverly Hills, recognised as being a world leader in the science of skin health and restoration. His products and techniques are decades ahead of the approach to skin care in the UK.

Rukhsana was personally invited to train with Dr Obagi in Beverly Hills and study his techniques in advanced cosmetic dermatology – the only one from among hundreds of other applicants.

On her return to the UK she created Surface clinic in the World Heritage Site of Saltaire.

Rukhsana says: “Cosmetic dermatology is all about looking after your skin the right way with the right products and treatments to look good at every age.

“As we age, we experience skin concerns that can be corrected, controlled and improved.

“In modern society the consumer is inundated with a choice of skin care products and treatments, this can be very confusing with hundreds of treatments on offer all claiming to do different things.

“At Surface we are confident that everything we offer in our practice works really well because we have assessed the suitability for ourselves via our own case studies and research.”

Surface, says Rukhsana, was founded to offer the very best skin rejuvenation treatments at affordable prices and make these accessible to everyone, while leading the way in skin education and customer service.

Transforming one client at a time, word of the marvellous treatments spread and led to a client base from all over the north of England and beyond.

Customer service at Surface is superb, with each client given Rukhsana's undivided attention and guided personally through their skin transformation journey every step of the way.

The beautifully-appointed reception, consultation and treatment rooms are oases of calm and the clinic has invested in some of the most highly sophisticated equipment that is available on the world market.

All clients undergo an in-depth consultation before a treatment plan is designed. Discussing short-term and long-term goals is all part of the process and vital in the education of the client as to their future skin care.

The work done at Surface has come to the attention of the industry.

The clinic won the UK's Best Skin Tightening Treatment accolade and, outside of London, was named the UK's Best Aesthetic Practice, competing with more than 500 UK clinics at the highly prestigious My Face My Body awards earlier this year.

RESULTS: Rukhsana assesses a client after a Non-Invasive Face Lift, the ZO Controlled Depth Blue Peel; the Hydrafacial machine and a selection of the ZO Skin Health products available at the clinic.
